THE CHRISTIAN*SCIENCE MONITOR*HOMEMAKERS' CORNER

(Conducted by Miss Alice L. Webb, State College of Washington.)

"The Big Cheese" and Its Many Merits

"The big cheese" Little brother uses the phrase as a slang term of scorn. But a cheese is not an object of scorn, by any means. This is what A. N. Ribot, of the dairy manufacturers department of the State College of Washington has to say about cheese:

"Cheese is believed to be the oldest of the dairy products, and the first form in which milk was preserved for future use. There seems to be a belief that cheese is unhealthful in small quantities. The fact is, however, that cheese can safely and economically be consumed in comparatively large quantities. Many experiments have been carried on to determine the effects of cheese on the human system. Men have lived on bread, fruits and cheese for long periods without experiencing ill effects whatever. More evidence that cheese may be consumed in rather large quantities, is that the Swiss, one of the healthiest people on earth, consume 26 lbs. per capita a year.

"At the world's cheese banquet Uncle Sam gets as his portion about 4 lbs. a year for every man, woman and child. We can safely discard the notion that cheese is merely a pie-crust. Pound for pound, it far exceeds meat in real food value, and in addition can be kept for long periods without refrigeration.

More Food Value Than Meat
"Cheese is about one-third water, one-third fat, and the rest curd and salt. The U. S. Department of Agriculture recommends that the people of America consume families a pound of cheese for every five pounds of meat. Cheese furnishes muscle and vigorous person should not use it liberally.

"Cheese may be used in dozens of different ways, and when properly made is always good and 'states good'. Buy good solid cheese, free from holes, and be sure it is properly cured and aged. Cheese is ordinarily ready to be used when it is 8 to 10 weeks old."

London Cheese Cakes

Here is a recipe for cheese cakes printed in London in 1703: "Cheese cakes very fine. Take a pound of Almonds blanched, then beat them fine as for March-Pan, with a little Rose-water. To every three of them Oiling, and a quarter of a pound of fine sugar, take three points of thick Cream, boil it; then gear in eight Sapples, beat off the Fire, put in the almonds, then take off the Fire and keep it stirring till it is cold that it may not skin; you must blot Nutmeg and Mace in the cream, and take them out before you put in the other things; set three Gallons of new Milk tender, break the Curd and put it into a cloth, hang it up to drain out the Whey, then press it gently; put your Curd into a bowl, break it a pound of Butter, then beat the Curd and Butter in a stone Mortar very fine, so mix all together with the yolks of ten Eggs, well beat with a little Cream, put in Rose-water, and more Sugar than you beat at first with your Almonds; mix it all well. You must make your Cheese cake stuff not so thick as you do for ordinary ones. You must take them out upon Tin-Plates; set them in a quick oven, but not too hot; let 'em stand half an hour, something more, you must make the Crust of half Rose-water, and half fair Water, the Butter rubbed with your Flour and Sugar, and three yolks and the white of one egg, remember to Butter your Plates; let the milk Boil water."

Hot Cheese-Ham Sandwich

A very filling sort of sandwich is the hot cheese and ham sandwich; toast slices of white bread on one side, butter and toast the other side, and lay on thin slices of boiled or broiled ham, or spread with minced ham. Place slices of Swiss or American cheese above this, and bake or place under the gas broiler until the cheese melts.

Cheese Cakes

"Three scores and ten" years ago cheese cost 10¢ per lb., according to a table of U. S. export prices, and dropped to be in 1900, but on the whole it has been climbing, a cent or two at a time, ever since until the 1922 figures (the last I have at hand) were 26.2¢. Twice, in 1919 and the year following, it rose to 37.8¢ and 31¢. In 1922 1,116 lbs. were made in this country, and next year it increased to 1,163 lbs.

Not For Fat Folks

"All reducing diets allow the following: It then follows a long list of good things the over-stuffed may safely eat—but cheese is not included, in Mr. E. H. Taylor's new book on Dieting Menus for the Hostess of Table (Appleton, N.Y.).

Eat and Be Well

"Eat Cheese" is one of the "Dietetic Do's" listed with the "Don'ts" of Eugene Christian in his book, "Eat and Be Well," telling what he thinks will make and keep one well through diet. I met him once, and he was a very nice, wholesome looking person himself, and though no longer a youngster, he could outwalk most young men half his years in the morning. This is one of his favorite diets for fall or winter for folks troubled with diarrhoea or dysentery: Cream of rice or corn soup, a sweet potato or baked apple, and with cream, and cheese with a water cracker and almonds.

CANADIAN GIRLS IN TRAINING*ING SUMMER CAMP

One of the most important features of the Canadian Girls in Training year in Canada is the Camp year. This year there were 125 Provincial Training Camps and sixteen District Training Camps in Alberta alone where the Canadian Girls in Training of the Province may spend a helpful happy holiday. A very carefully planned program of study, sports, swimming and No. 121, which shows the barberry and the different stages of wheat rust in natural colors, and will be sent to you free. If, however, you are still doubtful, send a sample for examination to the Dominion Intruder to the Division of Botany, Experimental Farm, Ottawa, Ontario, when you are sure of your rice, root them and burn him.

ANNAL AGRICULTURAL STATISTICS OF CANADA, 1923

It is announced by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics at Ottawa that the annual census of field crops and live stock for 1923 will be made this June. These statistics are collected jointly by the Dominion and Provincial Governments, and are published in a handsome book, which is sold at a price of 25¢ per copy. The book is a valuable reference work for farmers and stock raisers, and is a must for every farmer's library. It is a must for every farmer's library. It is a must for every farmer's library.

THE CGLT, Camp Slogan for 1925.

"Every CGLT, Leader at the Summer Training Camp. Every CGLT, Girl at the Provincial Training Camp. Every CGLT, Girl at the District Training Camp."

FIGHT THE BARBERRY: THE DEADLIEST ALLEYS OF WHEAT RUST

(Experimental Station Note.)

The property of the Prairie provinces depends ultimately on the growing of wheat. But wheat in the West have a bad foe to fight in wheat rust, and this rust receives fresh reinforcements from the barberry. So, if you want to stop this rust, you must first stop the barberry. For every year, you must first stop the barberry. For every year, you must first stop the barberry.

RED CROSS ACTIVITIES

It is an encouraging sign of the times that the world is growing increasingly interested in matters of relief, reinforcement, and aid. This is especially so for the number of women in Alberta, and not here alone, but all over Canada, who are welcoming the opportunity to take up the definite study of "Health in the Home," with its attendant social and domestic problems.

"What is to be Done?" is the question that is being asked by the Red Cross organization, and the answer is being given by the Red Cross organization, and the answer is being given by the Red Cross organization.

Miss Florence West R. N. who travels extensively in form classes in town and country, has returned from her recent trip with encouraging accounts of the work.

At present thirty-four classes are in process of formation.

The first three to enroll students, the classes were formed by a successful termination and the teacher, Mrs. Lonsdale, has kindly consented
